

SOPHIA UNIVERSITY

Exchange Program

01

Japan's Pioneer in Global Education

Over 1,500 international students are studying at Sophia University from around the world. Since Sophia has a compact footprint that brings together all faculties and schools on a single campus, the campus functions as a microcosm of global society.

02

Wide Variety of Programs

Sophia University has offered English-medium programs for more than 60 years. Students can study business and economics, science and technology, and environmental studies, all strengths of Japan, in English. Sophia also provides a wide variety of Japanese courses for international students.

03

TOKYO, Japan

Sophia University is centrally located in megacity "Tokyo", a political and economic hub that affords an invaluable opportunity to experience a unique culture in which traditional and modern elements intermingle.

English Taught Undergraduate Programs

Faculty of Liberal Arts

http://www.sophia.ac.jp/eng/program/undergraduate_c/UG_LA

Centered around courses in Comparative Culture, International Business and Economics, and Social Studies, the broad interdisciplinary curriculum of the Faculty of Liberal Arts (FLA) is designed to extend the general knowledge of students while developing their critical thinking ability. A wide range of courses that are focused on Japan help students gain an understanding of both present-day Japan and its traditions in a global context.

Faculty of Science and Technology

<http://www.st.sophia.ac.jp/english/about-us/index.html>

Green Science The Green Science program is designed to provide a fundamental knowledge of substances, and to resolve environmental issues at the atomic and molecular levels based on green material sciences.

Green Engineering The Green Engineering program is designed to provide electrical and mechanical engineering skills that will lead to the further development of energy-conservation technologies, efficient power generation, transmission and distribution.

English Taught Graduate Programs

Global Studies

<http://gpgs.fla.sophia.ac.jp/>

The Graduate Program in Global Studies emphasizes inquiry into the contemporary world and its historical antecedents by combining the interdisciplinary themes of global studies, theories and the methods of academic disciplines, and cross-cultural understandings of Japanese and area studies. It has three MA degrees—Global Studies, International Business and Development Studies, and Japanese Studies—each with its own specialized curriculum. Graduate exchange students are welcome to take content courses that are consistent with their graduate degree and for which they have sufficient background.

Global Environmental Studies

<http://www.genv.sophia.ac.jp/english/index.html>

The curriculum covers three fields: Economics and Business Administration for the Environment, Law and Policies, and Sociology for the Environment and Science and Engineering for the Environment. One of the strategies of this course is to enhance the capacity of students to contribute to the solving of current environmental issues by offering them a wide variety of practical and discipline-specific programs.

Green Science and Engineering

<http://www.st.sophia.ac.jp/english/graduate-studies/index.html>

Green Science and Engineering places an emphasis on environment- and sustainability-related studies, which are of paramount importance to the future of mankind. To foster cross-disciplinary education, faculty members drawn from all the other eight divisions are involved in the teaching. Students are expected to associate with a faculty member and join her/his research group to pursue the advanced education required for thesis research.

Linguistics <TESOL>

Program in Linguistics (TESOL) provides courses with an emphasis on both theory and practice. The faculty members represent a diverse spectrum of applied linguistics and language education, ensuring a comprehensive program for all who are interested in teaching English as a second or foreign language.

Regular Track

The regular track offers beginning, intermediate and advanced courses where 100-minute classes meet four or five times per week. This track aims to focus on developing communicative competence through extensive practice by integrating four skills, listening, speaking, reading and writing. English is occasionally used for instruction as necessary.

Intensive Track

The intensive track, which offers four-level intensive courses at basic, intermediate, and advanced levels, is designed for students whose main purpose of coming to Japan is to mainly study Japanese. Sixteen hours of class time per week allow students to spend sufficient time to gain the high level of Japanese proficiency. English is occasionally used for instruction as necessary.

Specialized Japanese Courses

Students at an advanced level can take business Japanese and translation courses in order to prepare for their future career. Academic Japanese courses are also available for students who require the high level of academic skills in order to enroll in undergraduate and graduate courses in specialized disciplines.
